

Measured on 165 conversations transcribed by the State Department's historians, held out from all development

